

* YOUR RESEARCH SHOULD BE FROM A REPUTABLE SOURCE. MAKE SURE YOU COPY THE LINK -- YOU'RE GOING TO NEED IT! ****

Quote blends and source attribution

1. Select the part of the quote that is most important.
2. Write a sentence around that quote.
3. Put the source in parentheses after the quoted material.
4. Use Easybib site to generate a works cited entry.

See sample here:

Passage from an article by Rob VonWinkle

Most primates—the monkeys, apes, and gorillas that are most like humans — pant, chuckle, grunt, cackle, squeal and smack their lips when playing. This might help explain where human laughter comes from.

Most important part that I want to use:

“monkeys, apes, and gorillas that are most like humans”

Blend:

It's interesting because they found that “monkeys, apes, and gorillas that are most like humans” are the animals that make various sounds while they play. (VonWinkle)

Works Cited: www.easybib.com

VonWinkle, Rob. “Do animals laugh?” Primate Monthly. 22 Feb.

2021, www.primates.com/animallaugh.html

